'If we needed proof that exciting new talent is in the pipeline, there was the marvellous American debut of Juho Pohjonen at [Carnegie's] Weill Recital Hall. Mr Pohjonen, offered a formidable mixed program, topped by thrilling accounts of two fiendishly difficult works by a fellow Finn, Esa-Pekka Salonen.'

New York Times

One of the brightest young instrumental talents to emerge from Finland today, Juho Pohjonen [www.juhopohjonen.com] has attracted great attention as one of the Nordic country's most intriguing and talented pianists.

Juho's studies began in 1989, when he entered the Junior Academy of the Sibelius Academy, Helsinki. He has studied with Meri Louhos and Hui-Ying Liu at the Sibelius Academy, where he completed his Master's Degree in 2008. In addition, Juho has participated in several master classes of world-class pianists such as Andràs Schiff, Leon Fleisher, Jacob Lateiner and Barry Douglas.

Juho Pohjonen has won numerous prizes in both Finnish and international competitions, including: First Prize at the 2004 Nordic Piano Competition in Nyborg, Denmark, First Prize at the International Young Artists 2000 Concerto Competition in Stockholm, the Prokofiev Prize at the AXA Dublin International Piano Competition 2003, and was a prize winner at Helsinki International Maj Lind Piano Competition 2002.

Juho has given recitals in Dresden, Hamburg, Helsinki, London (Wigmore Hall), New York (Carnegie Hall), San Francisco, Vancouver, Warsaw and at the Lucerne Piano, Savonlinna and Bergen Festivals. He has performed with orchestras including the Danish National, Malmö, Finnish Radio Symphony, Helsinki Philharmonic, Lahti Symphony, with whom he toured Japan, Bournemouth Symphony, Scottish Chamber and Philharmonia Orchestras.

Season highlights include two Mozart recitals in Helsinki which form part of a complete cycle of all Mozart Piano Sonatas spanning over three seasons, debut recitals in Alicante and at the Mecklenburg Vorpommern Festival and his debuts with Los Angeles Philharmonic and Lionel Bringuier performing Salonen's Piano Concerto and with Atlanta Symphony Orchestra and Hugh Wolff performing Beethoven's Piano Concerto No 3.

In addition, Juho Pohjonen has been selected as one of fourteen musicians to join the 'CMS Two Residency Program for Outstanding Young Artists' at the Chamber Music Society Lincoln Centre, participating in every area of CMS activity from 2009 – 2012.

Juho has been widely praised for his interpretations of music from Bach to Esa-Pekka Salonen. Anthony Tommasini, senior music critic of the New York Times, selected Juho's New York debut recital at Carnegie's Weill Recital Hall in 2004 as one of the most memorable concert events heard in New York during that year.
